StratejiCo.

Information and Communications Technology (ICT)

As a business field expanding at an outstanding pace since early 2000s, information and communications technology is now among the most promising sectors in developing countries. Governments make every effort to improve their [ICT] sector, yet they also must deal with growing transparency demands of citizens, increasing threats in cybersecurity, and protecting national security interests. Innovative companies spend a great deal of time and effort to drive success in [ICT], while coping with regulatory difficulties and engaging new customers.

StratejiCo. guides [ICT] companies in developing customer engagement and government affairs strategies to become competitive in a rapidly changing sector. Our team has a proven record in engaging public and private stakeholders in Turkey and in the Eurasia region.
